"THET FELLER PERRY IS ER SLICK MAN," SAYS HIRAM

BY L. P. ROBERTSON.

Hiram, Paipate and Horatious Littlejeans, two citizens of Memphis, who formerly grew cotton in Mississippi for the spiritual and physical benefit of the boll weevil, were foregathered within the only corner grocery in the tri-state metropolis still boasting of a barrel stove and a sawdust spit box. The subject of their discussion was the current municipal campaign.

Hiram opened the debate. "I tell yuh, Littlejeans," said Hiram, "this here feller Perry is sharp; I'd say he's right sharp. I don't let no one else here tell me nothin' but the truth. I tell yuh, yuh know, an' kotch high on tuh uh hundred niggers an' po' white trash gambolin' es ef thur hearts ud break, an' play in at nought, craps, seven-up an' fantan, an' this here Piece Comissar Quinn an' foh hundred cops uh atarin' right at 'em, yuh must say. This here man Quinn shore muss have eyes an' see not, er fat jus' plumb growed up eroun' his brain, fer he don't know nothin' erbout all this gambolin' until he read erbout it in thur hup-puhs next day. Peers tuh me Perry shore did play uh slick trick on thet feller. An' then yuh set here an' tell me yuh goin' tuh use yuh ballet fo' thet feller Willyums 'cause he's uh goin' tuh give us uh gov'mint jus' like his friend Quinn and Franky Monteverdy is givin' us."

Horatious was undisturbed. He calmly leaned back, took out a barrow knife, opened the broken blade, shaved off a hunk of plug chewin' about the size of the egg of a mallard duck and having introduced it into his oral office, retorted: "Yuh ain't nevah had no sense noway, Hiram. Paipate. What duh yuh know erbout pollyticks, noway? Yuh think Sheriff Perry done put one over on my man Quinn, does yuh? Now, lemme tell yuh, yuh feller, yuh don't know no more then yuh did when yuh was tryin' tuh make er livin' feedin' toll weevils. Perry didn't play no trick on Quinn, he aint got sense enough tuh play uh trick on noboddy. Quinn knowed them fellers was gambolin' all ther time. I tell yuh. He knowed more erbout it then Perry did, an' cud er 'rested' 'em any time he was so minded tuh do so, ef he hadn't had no better sense. What's he wantin' agin er good thing for, I ast yuh? Then he was what a gambolin' eroun' is some uh thuh bee' friends he's got, an' they's not only supported him, but they's er-goin' tuh support his friend Willyums for mare. What's he wantin' mare 'em mad for, I ast yuh? Ain't them fellers puttin' up campaign money, ain't they payin' thur way, I ast yuh? Yuh don't know nothin' erbout pollyticks, erbout uh yearlin' yuh does erbout thur Holy Scriptures: yore poh akul piece is es soft es er custard pie. Pollyticks is pollyticks, Hiram, an' yuh got tuh have friends and money of yuh er-goin' tuh do nothin' at all."

"I ain't kerrin' erbout thet, Rashid," replied Hiram in rebuttal. "thuh law ain't sposed tuh have no friends no more, erbout thur here. Quinn es sposed tuh be thuh law. Willyums, nev'ertheless, Ain't we got some right here, an' thuh law ain't no more had no great hankerin' after gambolers noways since some uh them fellers razed his outa er cotton monst' here in '08. I think hit wuz. Yeah, hit wuz, 'cause I reckerlick this here feller Willyums was mare at thet time, an' ain't nevah had no regards for him since. Thuh old woman nigh blessed me tuh death when I got home an' told me she had all thuh money from muh crap-putty nigh seven hundred dollahs, ef I reckerlick kerractly. Chillin' ha tuh go barefooted until after Xmas 'count uv them gambolers. I wouldn't be at all apised ef they's buyin' votes with my cotton money yet."

REPAINT PRISON CELLS FOR EFFECT ON MEN

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Cells in the city jail at Winnetka, nearby township, were painted gray to bring about a renormal attitude for prisoners incarcerated there, but it conducted to levity, so today the cells were painted a dull black.

William N. Peterson, psychology expert and head of the Winnetka police force, said he now looks for true repentance.

"SAVE FOR SELF" TENNESSEE'S BIG LEAD IN SAVING STAMPS SALES IN SERIOUS DANGER

"Save for Yourself" is the new slogan of the United States government in the greatest thrift drive that ever has been attempted as an educational measure for the American nation. The thrift stamps, or war saving stamps (W. S. S.), is the medium chosen by Uncle Sam to inculcate his children with the idea of saving money.

Mrs. John M. Kenny, of Nashville, field representative of the state association for thrift stamps, is in Memphis. She is starting a slow, intensive, educational campaign with the object of interesting the women of Memphis and Shelby county in the save-for-yourself idea. Life training of women, who have to watch the dinos and quarters, while the men make the dollars, is a reason for directing the campaign mainly to the women, according to Mrs. Kenny.

Tennessee is the first state in the Union, in proportion to population, in amount of money subscribed for war savings stamps during the war, according to Mrs. Kenny. For this reason, Elias W. Davis, director of sales for the Sixth federal reserve district, advised that Mrs. L. W. Pittman, of Birmingham, Ala., be sent to Tennessee to observe how the Volunteer state sells stamps and to import its ideas to Alabama.

Mrs. Davis has named Mrs. John R. Aust, of Nashville, as state director of sales. Mrs. Kenny and Mrs. Horace Smith, both of Nashville, are assisting her. Mrs. Smith, a former Memphian, was the originator of the family savings plan in war savings stamps, during the war. This plan, adopted all over the country, will be put into vogue in the peace-time drive in an effort to teach economy and thrift to American families.

Thrift stamps may be purchased in value as low as 25 cents, and when enough have been purchased, a $5 book will be issued. The stamps bear 4 1/2 per cent interest and can be cashed in at any time on 10 days' notice. The postoffice pays off.

The thrift stamps offer an excellent chance to take a wallop at the high cost of living. Women's clubs will be organized in the United States, and will be used here to sell stamps.

In Chattanooga the organization of women having in charge the sale of the stamps scored 100 per cent sales among the business men and school children. In other words, everything they went after they got.

But in the rest of Tennessee the stamp sale has fallen off alarmingly. Last year sales amounted to $100,000. That was at the rate of $10,000 a month. The past month, this year, sales averaged only $800, or at the rate of $10,000 a year. All of which, the state salesmen and Uncle Sam argue, means that the people of Tennessee are living at too rapid a rate, and spending too much money.

Therefore, the drive for thrift.

MEMPHIAN, PURVEYOR, ON KING ALBERT'S TRAIN

When the railroad administration had to look about for a man to superintend the cuisine of the train carrying King Albert of Belgium, the family and suite, over the country, it selected a Memphis man, J. R. Gilmore.

Mr. Gilmore has had charge of a dining car on the Memphis-Hot Springs run of the Missouri Pacific for over two years. He has been in the service for a number of years and is known for his one of the country to another. In discussing Mr. Gilmore's selection for the trip the dining service officials said that it was not only his ability as a purveyor which was considered but his administrative talents and the fact that few men in the United States were better acquainted than he with the country over which the royal train was to travel.

Mr. Gilmore will leave the royal party at Buffalo, N. Y., or some other Eastern city to return to Memphis to take up his regular run.

Making a purely vegetable Medicine

1875—1919

In 1875, Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., gathered and dried the roots and herbs which she used in the now famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, from the fields and forests, —then steeped them on her kitchen stove and filled a few bottles at a time, to alleviate the suffering of her women friends, neighbors and acquaintances, and the success of this medicine was unparalleled.

After 44 Years

These illustrations show the present method by which vast quantities of this well-known remedy are produced and from exactly the same kind of roots and herbs used by Mrs. Pinkham in the beginning.

First—The various herbs used are of the finest quality, and gathered at the time their medicinal strength is the highest.

Second—After the herbs are properly ground and mixed, the medicinal properties are extracted by soaking in large stone jars, covered.

Third—Then the extract is drained through percolators, acting somewhat like a coffee percolator.

Fourth—To insure a thoroughly pure medicine, it is carefully pasteurized by heat in special apparatus, and bottled hot.

Throughout the entire process, from the crude herb to the finished medicine in bottle, cleanliness and exactness are the watch-words.

The Reliability of Testimonials Guaranteed

The testimonials published by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company come to them unsolicited. Never knowingly have they published an untruthful letter, never is a letter published without the written consent of the writer. The reason that thousands of women from all parts of the country write such grateful letters is that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought health and happiness into their lives, once burdened with pain and illness. It is easy to realize how these poor, suffering women feel when restored to health; and their keen desire to help other women who are suffering as they did.
